

Vaccination Requirements

All pets boarded at Happy Tails Bed and Biscuit must be free of any contagious ailments. For the protection of all our guests we require proof of current vaccinations by a licensed veterinarian prior to a guests stay.

Required For Boarding:

Rabies - 1 or 3 year (Per your veterinarian)

DHPP - (Distemper/Parvo combination booster) - 1 or 3 year (Per your veterinarian)

Bordetella - (Canine Cough or Kennel Cough) - required annually.

Note regarding vaccinations: If we can not confirm vaccinations were given by a licensed veterinarian, we will not be able to board your pet. We do not accept vaccinations done by breeders or pet owners (even if the owner is a nurse or medical physician). Vaccinations must be done by a licensed veterinarian. It is always the pet owner's responsibility to ensure the pet's vaccinations are current. Even after faxing (or asking the veterinarian to fax) over records, it is a good idea to call us and confirm that we have received your pet's vaccinations record. This is especially important when checking in on Sunday or around a holiday when your Veterinarian's office may not be open.

All pets will be given a brief pre-entry check upon arrival. Anything unusual should be brought to our attention (i.e. bumps & lumps, open sores, stitches, limping, ear and eye issues, allergies, etc). If fleas or ticks are found, we will need to treat your pet prior to entering the kennel. The pre-entry check performed is superficial only and not intended to replace a physical exam performed by your veterinarian or imply medical judgments.
